Coordinators Column

One of the best parts of my job is sharing the excitement of discovery that many of the DITs experience on our field trips. The other day we explored the intertidal at Odiorne and spent a good chunk of time marveling over the discovery of colonial tunicates and encrusting bryozoans. While these things aren't new to me, because they are new to the DITs I get to share vicariously in their excitement. I commented to one that the DIT field trips are a great opportunity for me to get recharged.

Do you have any "best parts" of your Docent job? Click here for the rest of the post.

Thanks,

Mark
Thank you
UNH Marine Docent Volunteers!!

Thank you to all who participated, prepared and supported this year's Ocean Discovery Day! This event would not happen without your backing!! So thanks for taking the time to make this such a memorable event for those who attended.

October Docent Calendar

Monday, October 7
WADE Study Group Meeting - at 5 pm. Social time begins at 5:00, discussion from 5:30 to 7:00. New Book: The Medusa and the Snail by Lewis Thomas. At Ellen & Herb Kingsbury's home. The host provides the venue and drinks and the guests bring snacks for the group to enjoy.
For more info contact Brian Fitzgerald at brifitz@comcast.net

Thursday, October 10
Floating Lab for Saint Thomas at UNH pier in New Castle, 8:30 a.m.-12:10 p.m.

Click Here for Printable Calendar.

Looking for Docent University Topics!

We are headed into that time of year when we have a little more time to learn a new skill or subject. Do you have something you love to do or would like to share? Or do you have a suggestion of something you would like to learn more about? Please contact Arnie Silverstone, Mark or Dari if you have any ideas.